About the project...

The Woodberry Down Pavilion project is led by Hackney Council, Notting Hill Genesis and Manor House Development Trust, and is being delivered by Hackney-based architecture practice RC/YYC with the London School of Architecture.

The project includes 10 up-skilling workshops for young people aged 14-19 years old who live locally to Woodberry Down that are focused around designing a temporary pavilion as part of this year's Hidden River Festival.

Workshops taking place at the pavilion between 13th September to the 5th October introduce a range of built environment professions and career pathways through engaging and creative workshops for a range of ages.

During these workshops, participants will be supported to develop sector-specific skills as well as transferable skills such as team work and public speaking. Participants will also learn about future opportunities to further their interests.

These workshops form part of the Woodberry Down pavilion opportunity for local young people and are delivered in collaboration with a range of award-winning organisations that have extensive experience of working with young people.
